

World Hand Hygiene Day

The World Health Organization has set the 5th of May as the World Hand Hygiene Day.

Since the coronavirus crisis, hand hygiene has become an essential part of our daily lives. It is a simple and effective gesture that should not only be associated with states of alarm.

But there is not always enough space to equip a complete bathroom. Then, hand hygiene service stations are the solution..

They are specially designed for highly frequented public spaces, both indoors and outdoors, where durability, hygiene, functionality and design are required. Due to these characteristics, stainless steel becomes an indispensable element for their manufacture.
